

SAMUEL C. PANDOLFO SENTENCED TO 10 YEARS IN PRISON

CASES AGAINST UNION OFFICIALS CONTINUED INDEFINITELY

On Motion of Their Attorneys Concurred in by Attorneys for the Government

Contended Officials Have Used Their Influence to Get Men to Go to Work

(By United Press)
Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 16—Hearings on charges of contempt of court against officials of the United Mine Workers of America today were continued indefinitely by Judge A. B. Anderson in United States district court.

The charges were based on alleged violation of the injunction by Judge Anderson during the strike of coal miners to prevent union heads from furthering the strike.

The case can be called up any time. Judge Anderson took this action upon request of counsel for the United Mine Workers, who asserted defendants had used all their power to induce miners to return to work. The request was concurred in by government attorneys except in the case of Alexander Howatt, president of the Kansas district of the miners union and leader of the radical element within the organization.

Howatt's case was continued until next Monday, when he will have a hearing on charges that he is keeping some of the Kansas miners on strike.

Senators Will Try to Compromise on Treaty Ratification

(By United Press)
Washington, Dec. 16—Democratic senators will continue their efforts to negotiate a compromise on the peace treaty in spite of President Wilson's statement, they declared today.

In doing this they will not revolt against President Wilson's leadership the senators said. They declared that an analysis of the statement given out at the White House Sunday showed that Wilson did not say he would refuse to accept a compromise nor did he forbid senators to effect any, but declared he would not offer any.

Owners of Liquors Greatly Disturbed

Wonder How They are Going to Get Their Money Out of Liquor Held in Bond for Speculation

RALPH COUCH,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, Dec. 16—Bonded liquor, held with the expectation that the war time ban would be lifted, is costing the holders three and a third million dollars monthly, as carrying charges it was conservatively estimated here today.

Owners of the liquor today flooded government officials with telegrams demanding what they should do to "get out from under."

The telegrams began to clog Washington wires after President Wilson let it be known he cannot legally lift the war time ban while peace is not concluded.

This is the position he has held for months.

It was the decision of the supreme court yesterday which was the cause of the telegram. In this decision the war time prohibition act was held constitutional.

It seemed to blast the last hopes of liquor dealers for a wet spell before the big drought begins January 16, when constitutional prohibition is expected to become effective.

Government officials today were unable to give adequate answers to the question of what to do with bonded liquor. At least from points of view of owners, they hope to get back part or all of their investment and to shut off carrying charges.

The estimated original investment approximately $83,000,000 for 67,000,000 gallons of liquor, with which owners now seem to have been caught. This is in addition to carrying charges. The bonded supply includes 63,943,931 gallons of whisky. More than 1,200,000 gallons of brandy. Approximately 1,500,000 gallons of rum. These are government figures.

Washington, Dec. 6—Treaty ratification before Jan. 16 or repeal of the war time prohibition act today are considered the last hopes for the wets as a lid lifter before constitutional prohibition becomes effective.

Senator Sheppard of Texas, a dry leader, declared there is no possibility of the law being repealed. House leaders agree with him. The house agricultural committee voted 16 to 3 this morning against a proposal for repeal of war time prohibition. This means that so far as the house is concerned the measure for repeal is permanently pigeon-holed.

Ratification of the treaty in time to give holders of large stocks of liquor opportunity to sell them also is out of the question it was agreed.

Also Given a Fine of $4000--Motion for a New Trial is Denied

(By United Press)

Chicago, Dec. 16—Samuel Pandolfo, former president of the Pan Motor company, recently convicted of using the mails to defraud, was sentenced to ten years in Leavenworth and fined $4,000 by Judge Landis here today.

Mr. Pandolfo was convicted on four counts. Judge Landis sentenced him to five years on each count, on provision that counts one and two should be served concurrently. The same to hold for counts three and five, and was fined $1,000 on each count.

Judge Landis made it clear that government action was not intended in any way to influence the authority of the Pan Motor Company.

"The United States still have a right to throw away their money if it feels like it," the judge said.

The judge declared that H. S. Wigle, Geo. Heidman and Norman S. Strub, Pandolfo's associates, "played for the table stakes with the greatest luck."

"It is a shame that Pandolfo should be found guilty and such creatures as Wigle turned loose," the judge asserted. "Pandolfo was adjudged guilty, but only just because it was his scheme," he said.

A stay of sentence was granted by the U. S. court and an appeal is pending to take the case to a higher court. Pandolfo was released on $25,000 bond. He must refrain from doing those things which placed him in this "unfortunate position," said Judge Alschuler.

Print Paper Shortage Discussed in Congress

Bill Up to Limit Dailies to 24 Pages, and Other Publications Accordingly

(By United Press)

Washington, Dec. 16—With the shortage of white paper daily becoming more acute the House Post Office Committee began consideration of the bill which Representative Anthony of Kansas introduced to limit the size of publication transmitted through the mails.

It is predicted that unless congress acts speedily, scores of smaller publications will be forced to suspend for lack of paper. The proposal is to limit size by refusing to allow mailing privileges to any daily of more than two-four pages, and to Sunday papers of more than thirty-six pages and to any weekly publication more than seventy-five pages and any monthly magazine of more than one hundred pages.

Jason Rogers of the New York Globe, representative of the American Newspaper Publishers Association and magazine owner, is expected to appear before the committee.

"The situation," Anthony said "is just this: the paper mills already contracted for fifty per cent more paper than they can manufacture in 1920. Hundreds of small papers have been unable to contract at given prices of the cost of paper which was around two cents and is now between ten and fifteen cents."

MAKE PEACE TREATY EFFECTIVE BY XMAS HOPE OF COUNCIL

Allied and German Experts Meet to Determine Reparation for Scapa Flow Sinking

American Assistance is Necessary to Keep Austrians from Starving

By ED. L. KEEN
(United Press Correspondent)

London, Dec. 16—Peace will be concluded by Christmas according to optimistic forecasts by officials of the foreign office today.

The special commission of nine economic experts will be called to discuss with the allied representatives in Paris the nature of reparation for the sinking of the interned German fleet in Scapa Flow. She is prepared to offer some of the docks, dredges and other material demanded by the allies it was added. In the event their first offer is unsuitable the commission will be authorized to negotiate further.

The German's reply to the allies note emanating signature of peace treaty protocol was taken up and discussed by the supreme council today in Paris.

War Minister Churchill told the Commons that Great Britain had fewer soldiers in Russia than did the United States, France or Japan.

Supreme Council Decides German Note is Conciliatory and No Obstacle to Immediate Peace

By HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Paris, Dec. 16—The danger of a possible resumption of hostilities as a result of Germany's attitude toward the protocol of the peace treaty, was finally averted today.

The supreme council decided that Germany's reply to the allied note demanding acceptance of the protocol delivered by Baron Von Lersner yesterday was "most conciliatory" and that a reply was to be dispatched to Berlin "as soon as possible."

The supreme council is making arrangements to have the Germans sign the protocol to have the peace treaty effective before Christmas.

Semi-official forecasts of the German note yesterday showed the German government was willing to sign if certain comparatively minor concessions were made, but not until the supreme council met today, it was learned officially, there was no strong cause for continuing further preparations for the invasion of Germany to enforce the peace terms.

The supreme council appointed a session this afternoon of allied and German naval experts for a special study of a form of compensation to demand for the sinking of the interned German fleet at Scapa Flow.

In addition to the protocol note the council took up the question of assisting Austria. The decision was reached that American aid was absolutely necessary if Austria was to be saved from famine. After Chancellor Rhinow had addressed the council in behalf of Austria, the council considered means for sending 30,000 tons of wheat immediately. Rhinow asked that a regular food supply program for Austria be taken up to permit this country to resume normal life.

The supreme council explained it was necessary that the United States open credits to Austria.

To maintain Austrian territorial integrity the council reached a decision to prevent separation of Vorlberg from that country.

In the address to the council Rhinow expressed a desire to have created a Danubian confederacy to consist of Jugo-Slavia and Zeeho-Slovakia.

A Message From Your Government

You know that during the war, we practiced thrift—we saved. But on November 11th, 1918, we began a riot of spending and extravagance. This reckless spending by the people which is the forerunner of national ruin, comes at a time when the nation is saddled with an enormous war debt which must be paid out of the people's savings. When this debt is paid will depend entirely upon how soon the people can be made to check their madness and get down to the serious business of accumulating a surplus. Every thinking banker knows what is necessary if we are to get back to sound living conditions.

Boiled down to simple facts, we will begin to solve the problem only when we begin to "work and save." Just as fast as we produce more and spend less, we will reduce the high cost of living, decrease unrest and make progress toward getting out of debt. The individual must become economically independent instead of being a pauper in the event of misfortune. To do this, we must spend wisely, save and invest for the future instead of living from "hand to mouth."

Royal Welsh Lady Singers of Wales, Great Britain, to Appear in Concert Program

Singing under the auspices of the choir of the Swedish Lutheran (Clara) church this evening, the Royal Welsh Lady Singers of Wales, Great Britain, are assured of a large audience as many tickets have been sold by the choir members.

Royalty, musicians and the press unite in speaking highly of the accomplishments of the Welsh singers. The director, Madame Hughes-Thomas is the daughter of Rev. Richard Hughes, one of the most eminent and noted Welsh preachers. She married Alderman Edward Thomas, formerly Mayor of Cardiff, the most important city in Wales. She has long taken a prominent part in the national life of her country, both politically and musically.

Of their singing the Indianapolis News says: "Their voices are full and they sing with an ease and freedom and open tone that is refreshing. The program was a succession of delights and encores." There are nine in the company.

"Their singing should be of value to all club singers," says the Evening Post of San Francisco. It praised their attack and the absolute attention which they gave their director.

BRAINERD'S OLDEST STORIES OF THE DAY

One morning some time ago a young man put on a suit of underwear. He told his wife that it was "awful" tight and she said, "Never mind, it will soon stretch out." After wearing it a week he discovered it was her suit that he had been wearing.

Little Falls American Legion is not content like Brainerd with passing resolutions scoringing that Broms' personage who dodged war service, got a reduced sentence and then got out on a "clerical error" and is now putting in his time abusing the government. They have sent Attorney A. H. Vernon to Washington to fight the Broms "clerical error" release.

STEEL STRIKE CONTINUES

Workers' Leaders Vote Against Return to Mills
Washington, Dec. 16—Continuation of the nation-wide steel workers' strike was voted Sunday by the conference here of the twenty-four presidents of unions connected with the steel industry. It was said there were only two dissenting votes, most of the union leaders maintaining that victory in the controversy was in sight.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. A

WHY NOT HAVE A COAL RESERVE

The necessity of providing in some way for an adequate coal surplus to protect against repetition in the future conditions endured this winter is one lesson which must be learned from the coal strike. It was because there were only a meager supply on which it could draw when the mines were closed that the country was face to face with industrial paralysis only a few days ago.

The idea is not new. It has been forced upon us every time in years past that a strike of miners has been threatened, but, like the necessity of better protection against forest fires, it is easily forgotten when the danger is past. This is partly so, no doubt, because it presents a problem which is not easy of solution.

The operators always have laid the blame for a coal shortage upon the consuming public. The public will not buy, they say, except at its own convenience, which is as late as possible. If buying orders could be distributed more evenly throughout the year, especially increased during the spring and summer, it would keep the miners steadily employed, relieve the heavy demands on the mines during the fall and winter months, and pile up coal in the bins of the consumer.

All of this is largely true, and yet, scolding the public will not solve the problem. The public will not buy at unreasonable times unless special inducements are offered. The suggestion has been made that the operators adopt a scale of prices for bituminous coal somewhat similar to that for anthracite coal, lower in the spring and gradually advancing month by month, and that the railroads offer a lower freight rate for coal shipped in the spring and early summer. All this undoubtedly would help.

There is a general feeling, however, that something more than early buying by the public is necessary if protection is to be had against future strikes; that the operators should keep the mines running as nearly full time as possible in spite of the erratic demand, storing the surplus where it can be available for shipment later in the year. To this the objection is made that most of the mines are so situated that storage facilities are poor, that there is danger of fire from spontaneous combustion when bituminous coal is piled up in large quantities and that the expense of distribution would be considerably increased.

Of the objection raised, that of added expense is perhaps the most serious, and yet it should not be allowed to stand in the way of the plan if otherwise feasible. It would be worth something to be insured against the consequences of a strike. —Pioneer Press.

THE BROMS CASE

The case of one Allan S. Broms is taking on national interest. Broms charged with being a slacker, hid under the cloak of conscientious objector. Sent to Camp Dodge from St. Paul, he refused to obey orders or wear a uniform. Court martialled, he was sentenced to 20 years in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth. Shortly after he entered prison, his sentence was commuted to three years. Before that time was up, he was released on a "clerical error".

But what sticks in the crop of all loyal citizens is giving the slacker "back pay", just the same as the soldiers who served at the front. When the attention of Secretary Baker was called to it he refused to allow Broms to be re-arrested, and so by reason of the clemency of the head of the war department Broms is allowed on the streets of St. Paul to ply his nefarious business of undermining the government of the United States, says the West St. Paul Times. It is no wonder that the men in the service are wrathful. It will be interesting to know what kind of a reply will be given by the Sec. of War and the President, both of whom have received strong protests from organizations of returned soldiers, who certainly have a right to file their objections.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Park Today and Tomorrow
 Darwin was right, all right. But he never graded the degrees of descent. Edgar Rice Burroughs made some attempt at grading in his "Tarzan of the Apes," which is now in motion picture form at the Park theatre. He runs the gamut this way—drunken sailors, brutal ship officers, slave traders and finally aristocrats. The apes really rank highest. Even the boy brought up by the apes ranks head and shoulders above his aristocrat relative. There are no class lines, no national lines, no mutual exploitation among our ancestors.

"Tarzan of the Apes" is a bully adventure. Wild beasts roam through the scenes; a kindly elephant takes the wild man upon his back; in short, mix Stevenson's "Treasure Island" with Captain Baker's African stories and the happy combination is struck. The joy of the film lies in its kindly wild life rather than its civilize brutality. And in putting Burroughs' story into the film the National Film Corporation has shown good sense of showmanship. "Tarzan of the Apes" is better than most films which have been concocted for the screen, and credit must be given Scott Sidney, who staged it, and Isidor Bernstein, who edited it. Natural beauties, imagination and clean, free spirit make the film a delight.

SAVED HER LIFE

Morrison, Iowa.—"Dr. Pierce's remedies and the professional after this an immense bunch formed on my right hip which doctors neglected to lance and consequently my entire system was poisoned. I not only became terribly emaciated but my body was a mass of running sores and my right limb drew up under me and became helpless. I was in bed for more than six months and all hope for my recovery had been given up when some one told my father about Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo where they not only manufactured some wonderful remedies but also gave advice free, so he wrote for advice, and in a very short time we were very thankful that he did, because the first half bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery' helped me so much that I was able to raise my head from the pillow, my appetite returned and I was able to sleep. Then the sores commenced to heal and I knew that I had started on the right track.

"It took five years to bring me back to my original good health but I took no remedies but Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets,'—with the approval of my doctor all the time. This was forty years ago and I am still in the best of health. I have never had any sign of a blood disorder since or any ailment due to impurity left in my system, and I feel quite confident in recommending Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as a blood purifier. The 'Favorite Prescription' I found equally as good in toning up the womanly organs, and I could not have kept house without the 'Pleasant Pellets.' Every member of my family has found them to be unequalled as a purgative and liver tonic, and we have often had to drive a good many miles from home to get them."—MRS. N. P. JENSEN, P. O. Box 100.

CITY COUNCIL REGULAR SESSION

Three Aldermen Absent, Pay Day on Same Night Cut Down the City Fathers' Attendance

LACK OF STREET LIGHTING

Council Addresses Request to Water and Light Board to Explain Continued Dark Streets

All members except Aldermen Michael, Koop and Rasch were present at the regular council meeting. The city clerk was instructed to write the water and light board and get an explanation on the continued lack of street lighting.

The present building ordinance is too rigid in some respects, according to a report by City Engineer R. T. Campbell, and it was referred to the city attorney, D. H. Fullerton, for proposed remedial paragraphs.

The city engineer was made manager of the city hall and to him prospective tenants will apply.

Payrolls on city waterworks construction work and city engineer's payrolls were allowed subject to the approval of the finance committee.

W. H. Britton's application for a pool table license was granted.

A communication from Fire Chief McGinn requesting supplies at the N. E. Brainerd hose house was acted on by the council, the fire and water committee recommending the matter be referred to the purchasing committee with power to act, which was done.

City Engineer Campbell presented cigars to the council and as the wreaths of smoke ascended, he said the cigars were on his new assistant city engineer, who had up to Monday evening attained the age of just four days. As the cigars were good, the council said they hoped he would have many more.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

END OF WORLD NOT DUE DECEMBER 17

W. O. Beal, Assistant Professor of Astronomy of University Minnesota, Says So

PROFESSOR PORTA IS FLAYED

Faculty Member of St. John's University, Collegeville, Raps Porta's Attainments

Nothing has stirred up Brainerd as much in recent years, not even excepting the coal strike, as has one Prof. Porta's prediction that the juxtaposition of planets Wednesday, December 17, meant a heap of trouble for this old earth and its inhabitants.

Down in Southeast Brainerd several thrifty householders are packing wood and coal on their back porches. On man built a coal bin in his kitchen and filled it up with soft coal.

No Calamity is Due

That there is no possibility of a calamity or atmosphere disturbances of any kind on December 17 because of a juxtaposition of planets predicted for that day and after the prediction of the earth's being visited by some calamity because of that fact is nothing more than the imaginings of some freakish mind, was the assertion made by W. O. Beal, assistant professor of astronomy of the University of Minnesota.

Porto Rico Excited

Advices received from San Juan, Porto Rico, stated that 500 university students, aroused by such a prediction, petitioned the commissioner of education in that city for a leave of absence in order to be with their parents and families on Dec. 17. The alarm throughout the island is general, it is said.

"The world can go about its business as usual," Professor Beal said, "with the assurance that the prediction is absolutely unfounded. There is no more relation to a possible calamity on the earth because of the juxtaposition of planets than there is to the juxtaposition of stars."

St. John's Priest Testimony

Excerpts below were taken from an article signed "P. H." Et. John's University Observatory, Collegeville, Minn., and published in the St. Cloud Times Dec. 15. "P. H." is a member of the faculty of the college. He is also a close student of astronomy. His report indicates that the nearest planet to the earth will be 27 degrees removed. The nearest heretofore was 72 degrees.

Porta's Prediction

"Owing to a peculiar position of the planets on December 17, 1919, (Wednesday) Professor Albert Porta of San Jose, California, has (according to press reports) predicted storms, floods, hurricanes, earthquakes and all manner of other possible and impossible meteorological abnormalities to take place shortly after the above-mentioned date. Besides 'making a hit' with some sensational newspapers, it seems the professor has succeeded in knocking the fear of the Lord into some people, at least so one should judge considering the many anxious queries concerning the above mentioned forecast."

Attacks Porta's Knowledge

In the St. Cloud Times article the Collegeville priest-astronomer attacks Prof. Porta's intellectual and scientific attainments and says a cargo of salt is needed to facilitate digestion of Porta's reported calamitous prediction. The priest states that Porta is not much of a scientist or mathematician and that the latter is suffering from a severe attack of megalomania.

Position of Planets

As regards the astronomical phenomena that are to be responsible for the supposed coming catastrophe the facts and theory are as follows, says "P. H." of Collegeville:

"There are eight planets. Algebra teaches that eight objects taken all together are capable of being combined in 40,320 different ways. Hence it is easy to see that certain combinations are exceedingly rare. As a rule the planets lie scattered pell-mell around the sun. On Dec. 17, 1919, however, the scattering will be reduced to a minimum.

"On one side of the sun we find the planets Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn and Neptune all within an angle less than 27 degrees. Uranus, the only 'stranger in Jerusalem,' is almost directly opposite this formidable array, and the earth is nearly at right angles to the line of opposition passing through the sun. That the positions of planets is such as stated any one can verify by consulting a U. S. government Blue Book (the Nautical Ephemeris has a blue cover) and looking up the true longitude of the sun, and the heliocentric longitudes of the several planets.

Heliocentric Opposition

Whenever two planets are in helio-

centric opposition or conjunction a line drawn from the centers of these planets to the center of the sun will pierce the surface of the sun in two diametrically opposite points. These points, they say, are the birthplace of a solar disturbance which may or may not develop into a full-fledged sunspot.

Moreover, the dates corresponding to the positions of these disturbance, three days before they reach the eastern and western limb of the sun, and three days before they reach the central meridian of the sun in front and behind as seen by us, are calculated.

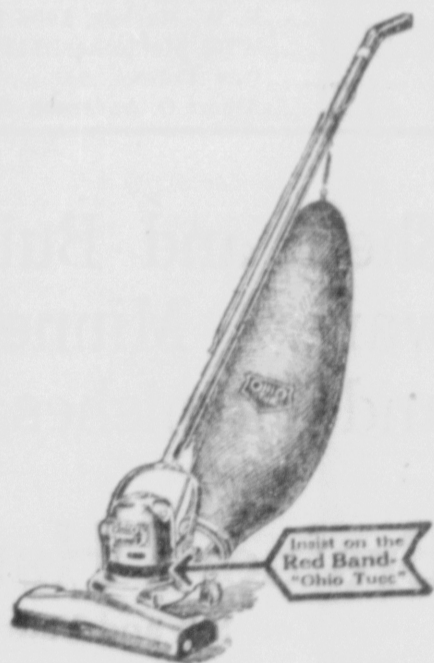

"Then according to this theory, a storm (barometric low) will arrive on the Pacific coast on these dates, or a reinforcement of one there existing will take place. Since there are so many heliocentric conjunctions and oppositions of planets near December 17, 1919, there ought, according to the theory, be quite a number of disturbances created on the sun all nearly coinciding, and in consequence a piling up of storms on the Pacific coast. Furthermore, since these disturbances are of an electrical character (and as every student of physics knows electrical charges in motion always have a magnetic field at right angles to this motion), the earth is situated just in the right place for the disturbances to have their most intense effect. Ergo: Calamitous weather conditions and climatic upheavals the country over.

Not So Close Before

"For sweet charity's sake I shall desist from passing judgment upon the above-stated theoretical considerations. As for the unusual positions of planets and the direful consequences of the same, I may state that on Dec. 30, 1917, the planets were grouped exactly in the same way, except that the angle comprehending the six on one side of the sun was 70 degrees instead of 27 degrees. As formerly people blamed the appearance of comets for wars, pests, famines, etc., as now-a-days sunspots are getting the credit for all ills that human flesh is heir to from a crash in Wall street to a failure in the cucumber crop. Says Miss Isabel Lewis to the Nautical Almanac Office of the U. S. Observatory at Washington, in a recent article concerning the phenomenon, 'Many times in the past, six and even seven planets have been closely in line without any disastrous results and there is no reason to believe that the December grouping will be in any way remarkable.'

"The records of the meteorological department of this institution show no extraordinary departure from the normal atmospheric conditions. I recall, however, that we entered the war in 1917, and if people insist on attributing this eventually to the malicious conspiracy of the planets or to the number of sunspots, that is their privilege.

"Irrespective of the positions of the planets and the number of sunspots, I venture to predict an exceedingly 'dry' Christmas season."

Mississippi, Solon Declares Disgust With Political Situation

Hickory, Miss., Dec. 16—Senator John Sharp Williams, Democrat, Mississippi, declared he would not be a candidate for re-election to the Senate, in a letter made public on Sunday.

"I am disgusted with the whole political situation, especially with treatment of international affairs as if they were questions of party politics," the senator wrote, "and I would rather be a dog and bay at the moon" than to spend one day in the United States Senate after the expiration of my term."
